THE ORIGIN OF "COCK- TAIL"

FEW people are aware of the origin of the magic American word "cocktail," the mere utterance of which is sufficient to bring a look of happiness to the features of any well conditioned American citizen. The word comes from Mexico, where pulque, a kind of liquor obtained from the cactus, is the national tippie.

The Aztec word for pulque is pronounced "octel," and the American army which under General Scott invaded Mexico some fifty odd years ago corrupted the word into "cocktail," and carried it back to the United States.

There is a tradition that pulque was discovered by one of Montezuma's nobles, who sent it to the Emperor by the hand of his daughter Octel. The monarch tasted the liquor, looked at the maiden, smiled, and thereupon gulped it down. It not only tickled his palate, but touched his heart, and it is reported that he married the girl. From that day to this the Mexicans have kept themselves well supplied with pulque, and when drinking together invariably look and smile at one another before swallowing.

The Americans have adopted a similar custom when imbibing their whiskey, and frequently, when desirous of inviting a friend to take a drink, ask him to have a "smile."

*A kiss from a pair of red, luscious lips
Is a nectar almost divine;
But the touch to my lips of a brandy sling
I'll take every time for mine.*

 Scotch whiskey, Irish whiskey, gin or brandy the same.

Clergyman—Do you ever expect to rise above your lowly position?

Barkeep—Sure, Mike. This joint is liable to go up any minute.

Ask yourself tonight if you are ashamed of what you did today, when you took one drink too much. Then tomorrow cut out that one.

Wife—Two drinks? Why, you promised faithfully you'd only take an eye-opener.

Husband—Well, I've got two eyes, haven't I?

*The gambler laid four aces down
 As nimbly as a rabbit.*

*He grabbed the chips, remarking,
 "It is simply fours of habit."*

TOASTS

TOASTS

To all the states in the Union.—By Harry L. Newton.

Condensed cocktails of wit and encomium, which may be served before or during a banquet, by toastmasters and speakers.

These toasts were written especially for this book and are fully protected by copyright (1906) by Will Rossiter. Any infringement will be vigorously and persistently prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Pirates, beware! Hands off!

ALABAMA.

A health to Alabama is the burden of my
"spiel;"
They always give credit to Montgomery,
But they seldom give "aught-to-Mobile."

ARIZONA.

Arizona, sweet maid of the west,
You certainly are a hit;
Augustus Thomas liked it so well
He "made a play for it."

ARKANSAS.

Raw, raw, raw!
Raw, raw, raw!
Raw, raw, raw!
For Arkansaw!

CALIFORNIA.

California's native sons swear by her,
Of that there is no doubt;
They say that when you leave old Cal.,
"You're only camping out."

COLORADO.

Colorado, beautiful land!
I love you, every bit!
I'd tell of your beauty, but I think you've heard
Our friend "Pike's Peak" of it.

TOASTS (Cont'd).

CONNECTICUT.

The fame for shrewdness that the folk
Of Connecticut have won,
Is substantiated by the fact
That we speak of the state as "con."

DELAWARE.

Delaware's a modest state,
They do less talk than thinking;
So let's not talk but fill a glass
And sing her praise by drinking.

FLORIDA.

Here's to the groves of Florida,
The state we all love well;
It's a lovely spot in winter,
But in summer it's hot as—well, here's to it.

GEORGIA.

Down south there is a state past which
The Atlantic gently flows;
And whenever our nation asked for aid,
Then "Little George-he-rose."

IDAHO.

(Sung to the air of the song "Navajo.")
Ida, Ida, my Idaho,
I have a love for you that will grow, oh, oh;
Nothing snide about her, I know—
I love my Idaho.

ILLINOIS.

The way to spell old Illinois
Very few people know;
The correct way to spell Illinois
Is C-h-i-c-a-g-o.

INDIANA.

Indiana—pride of the west—
Her novelists have won her glory;
Her story tellers are the best,
And, really, "that's no story."

The test of friendship is to go broke.

TOASTS (Cont'd).

IOWA.

In Des Moines, if you try to "counsel bluffs,"
They certainly will "sue city."
If you've never been in Iowa
It certainly is a pity.

KANSAS.

Potatoes they grow small in Kansas,
Potatoes they grow small in Kansas;
Potatoes they grow small,
They dig them in the fall,
And eat 'em skins and all—
In Kansas.

KENTUCKY.

Kentucky where the "moon-shines" brightly
In days as well as night;
The best of whiskey there they make,
And put it "cut of sight."

LOUISIANA.

To you I will e'er be true—
My Louisiana, Louisiana, Louisiana Lou.

MAINE.

Here's to the good old state of Maine;
I'd sing her praise fore'er and e'er,
Were I not dryer than the fish
They catch so plentifully there.

MARYLAND.

"Maryland, My Maryland!"
Its oysters they are great.
Though they furnish us with oysters,
They're no "lobsters" in that state.

MASSACHUSETTS.

To Massachusetts where the pilgrims
Landed first, our caps we doff;
Here's hoping that her dear old maids
Will soon be married off.

TOASTS (Cont'd).

MICHIGAN.

The beauties of fair Michigan
 Are what I'd like to teach;
 It's famous for its fruit, that's true,
 And Michigan—you're a "peach."

MINNESOTA.

The other states have flowers fair
 In many scented bower;
 But when I'm hungry, give me the good
 Old Minnesota "flour."

MISSISSIPPI.

I do not know her husband,
 Whether he's smart or "dippy,"
 But I'll drink to his lovely wife—
 Her name is Mrs. Sippi.

MISSOURI.

As fair a state as any,
 And I will leave it to a jury—
 Is the state I'm toasting now—
 The good state of Missouri.

MONTANA.

Montana's famed for its mines so great;
 That state is certainly cute!
 Helena is the capital and
 It's other big city's a "Butte."

NEBRASKA.

Hats off to Nebraska, boys, where good old corn is king;
 The state where, the year round, they get more wind than rain;
 But they raise corn on prairies, where you'd think 'twould never grow,
 And everybody raises corn instead of "raising cane."

NEVADA.

An Eldorado
 Is Nevada;
 You'll find strange things there, too.
 Lots have found gold,
 And Corbett, we're told,
 Found his Waterloo.

TOASTS (Cont'd).

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

A toast to old New Hampshire, boys,
 Whose temp'rance laws we're hissing;
 If they could view
 This jolly crew,
 They'd know what fun they're missing.

NEW JERSEY.

New Jersey, home of toasts and "skeeters;"
 No one can starve in that state bright,
 For the kindly-hearted mosquitoes
 Are always ready to "give you a bite."

NEW MEXICO.

You may have fame, you may have wealth,
 But come to us if you want health.

NEW YORK.

The "Empire State," good old New York,
 The stars will even twinkle
 When you tell the story of
 Poor old Rip Van Winkle;
 He slept for fully twenty years,
 That's the truth, we will allow;
 Though he may have slept there all that time,
 You'll find no "sleepers" now.

NORTH CAROLINA.

It was at old Fort Sumter
 They fought a fight—none finer—
 So let us drink a right good health
 To good old North Carolina.

NORTH DAKOTA.

It may be right to have a place
 Where prohibition lingers;
 But I'll take my home in some glad spot
 Where I can plant "four fingers."

OHIO.

With Ohio—that famous state—
 We really couldn't dispense,
 For if she left us, where would we go
 To get our presidents?

HOW TO MIX DRINKS.

TOASTS (Cont'd).

OKLAHOMA.

Oklahoma is the youngest state
 In the Union, that you will note;
 Tho' we've been derided,
 Our congress decided
 We're old enough to vote.

OREGON.

I'll sing her praises o'er again,
 More again,
 I'll roar again
 The praise of good old Oregon—
 Oregon, my Oregon!

PENNSYLVANIA.

Pennsylvania's like a train,
 (To a casual peeper),
 Pittsburg is the smoking car
 And Philadelphia is the sleeper.

RHODE ISLAND.

There was created in the East,
 By act of Providence, R. I.,
 A teeny-weeny state—'tis true
 It's little, but oh my!

SOUTH CAROLINA.

"It's way down south in Dixie,"
 'Neath palmettos green; and
 Don't forget South Car'lina
 Was one of the first thirteen.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

You may get a wife most any old place,
 Some make you swear and cuss;
 Then comes divorce, and then, of course,
 You come right out to us.

TENNESSEE.

I do not care for cricket,
 With football I can't agree;
 I do not care for baseball,
 But I do love tennis—see? (Tennessee.)

TOASTS (Cont'd).

TEXAS.

There's one word that strikes my heart in the solar plexus,
And that one word is Texas—dear, old Texas!

UTAH.

Utah is the place, my boys,
I'll give you all the hunch;
We're not contented with one wife,
Out here we have a bunch.

VERMONT.

Here's to the maples of old Vermont,
I love their sugar—it's the real kibosh.
Our state's produced good, true, old yanks,
And also invented "by gum" and "by gosh!"

VIRGINIA.

It was in "Fair Virginia"
The Revolution ended,
And in later years at Richmond, too;
The North and South were blended.

WASHINGTON.

Washington's the state, my friends,
That fits me like a glove;
And though you never did "see-attle,"
You've heard it "Spokane" of.

WEST VIRGINIA.

What need to sing the praises
Of good, true West Virginia,
When the contents of your glass
Is begging to be in ye?

WISCONSIN.

Wisconsin is the breezy place,
Its people have the spunk;
And the beer that made Milwaukee famous
Made Wisconsin drunk.

TOASTS (Cont'd).

WYOMING.

Wyoming, broad and free art thou,
 With plenty of game and bear.
 Look at the map and you'll see that
 It's the only one that's "square."

THE DIAGNOSIS.

When your heels hit hard, your hoad feels queer,
 And your thoughts rise up like froth on beer;
 And your knees are weak and your voice is strong,
 And you laugh all night at some darn fool
 song—
 You're drunk, by gad! you're drunk!

*He tore around and swore around
 As if he were insane.
 He turned his pockets inside out,
 But no, it was in vain;
 A fine perfecto in his mouth—
 (His curses we could catch),
 In desperation then he yelled—
 "My kingdom for a match."*

ANY MORE?

"What does the first drink suggest?"

"One more."

"The next?"

"Some more."

"Then?"

"More and more."

"Next day?"

"Never more."

(Repeat until tired.)
